The primary motto of setting up a COE shall be to provide expert end-to-end services ranging from IT strategy, solution design and engineering to deployment and operations management in the organization. The COE shall bring together insights, ideas and innovation both from client side and from iOG team with rich experience in implementing diversified and advanced O&G software projects at client sites across the world. For companies willing to build operate and maintain effective production plants, setting up of a COE shall be a one-stop solution to develop new business processes, reconcile existing business processes in-line with industry best practices, design and develop integrated information systems, carry out optimal evaluation and selection of technology and configuration, and implement work processes for value sustenance and enhancement from IT investments.
